Foreword

This catalog—printing, binding, cover design, illustrations, and initial letters—is wholly the work of the Practical Arts department and of pupils in the Junior High School.

The cover design was made by Andrew M. Kilpatrick, a Senior, assisted by the Practical Arts department. The pen and ink sketches illustrate life about and within the school. The drawings used with the initial letters are from casts in the Fitchburg Normal School, chosen because they illustrate phases of the work of the school that are considered of particular importance.

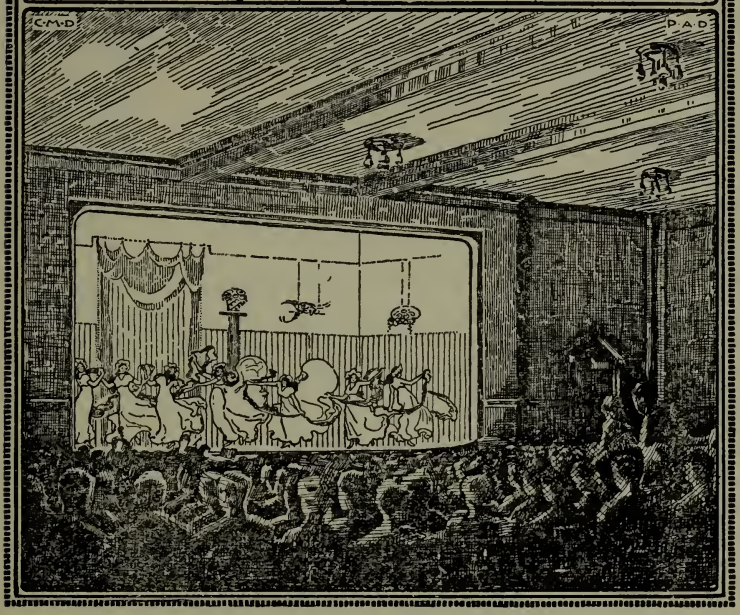
Saint George—Poise, Culture, and Aspiration.

Lincoln—The Pioneer, Dignity of Labor.

Minerva—Wisdom.

The Fitchburg State Normal School seeks to develop in its students appreciation of life, and the power of growth.

Equipment



Equipment

THE State Normal School at Fitchburg, Massachusetts, was established in 1895 in a rented building with four teachers and forty-six students. It has graduated 1277 from the Elementary department; 322 from the Advanced department (now known as the Junior High School department), nineteen from the Kindergarten department and ninety-six from the Practical Arts department for men. Twelve have received diplomas for the completion of two years of special work, and 226 have been given certificates for one year's work.

At present there are thirty teachers, 325 students in the Normal School, and 889 pupils in the Practice Schools. Because of the demands of the war this number is smaller than for the last three or four years. Practically all the men students were taken by enlistment or draft, or by essential industries connected with the war, and many of the women students left to enter upon various occupations. With the close of the war, there is already being felt a great impetus in education. A class was admitted in February to complete the first year's work at the close of the summer term. The need of teachers in all grades was never so great and at steadily increasing salaries. One of the most important results of the European war is the national movement for better schools and trained teachers.

In place of a rented building the Normal School group now includes Normal Hall, Miller Hall, Palmer Hall, the Junior High School, Edgerly School, and Hastings Greenhouse; all on the campus of about fifteen acres, and Day Street and Highland Avenue Schools a few minutes walk from the main group.

Normal Hall has a small assembly room, recitation rooms, a gymnasium, and a large library occupying half of the second floor and furnishing space for 200 readers, while one-half of the third floor is fitted up for the Fine Arts department.

Palmer Hall and Miller Hall are two dormitory homes where women students from many different towns, cities, and states, with a common purpose—training to become teachers—live, study, work, and play together, with four matrons and a watchman as safeguards for health and safety.

Some of the advantages afforded at Fitchburg through well planned buildings, equipment, and grouping of work are:

Location in modern and up-to-date large city, just out side business section, with two lines of electric cars passing the school.

Four tennis courts and large athletic field on campus.

Unusually large art collection of pictures and statuary.

11,000 different titles of books and almost as many magazines and pamphlets in the library. About 100 of the leading educational, technical, and popular magazines are received regularly.

Large, thoroughly equipped workshops for printing, woodfinishing, woodworking, and mechanical drawing.

Every convenience for health and comfort.

Modern, practically fireproof buildings, with broad open halls and wide staircases. Frequent fire drills.

Social events, parties, class debates, class plays, socials, receptions, hikes, outdoor games.

Opportunity to know children. Working with individual child and small groups during Junior year. Teaching during Senior year under expert supervision, but in full charge for fourteen weeks in one of the thirty-five rooms in the practice schools.

Personal interest taken in every normal school student. Special stress paid to the need of the individual.

Opportunities to earn part or all of living expenses.

The year-around-school for those who wish to save earning time.

Concerts—The study of music at the Fitchburg Normal School has been given a great impetus through the help of a Fitchburg citizen, who has, for the last quarter of a century or more, endeavored to develop a knowledge and love of music in the community. He has provided from two to four concerts at the school—divided between instrumental and vocal concerts of the very highest character. During February and March 1919, a concert by the Elshuco Trio and a vocal concert by Mabel Garrison and Lambert Murphy were given. In 1918, the following concerts were given at the school: The Hoffmann Quartette, The Longy Club, and a song recital by Mabel Garrison and Lambert Murphy. Mr. Herbert I. Wallace, who is the public spirited music lover, has also made it possible that every normal school student could attend the four concerts of the annual spring musical festival.

At the spring musical festival in 1919, the evening concerts to be given are:

Hiawatha's Wedding Feast—A Cantata composed by S. Coleridge Taylor.

The Beatitudes—An Oratorio by César Franck (based on the eight Beatitudes and supposed to be his greatest work).

The two afternoon concerts will consist of miscellaneous vocal and orchestral selections.

In 1918, the evening concerts were:

Spring from "The Seasons"—Haydn.

"Music" An Ode for Mixed Chorus, Children's Chorus, Soli, and Orchestra, Opus 75—Henry Hadley.

The afternoon concerts were:

Music in the Home—Lambert Murphy and Mabel Garrison, and Music of France—Orchestral Number.

Orchestral Concert of miscellaneous selections—with soloist, Marie Sundelius.

No expense is spared to make the spring musical festival a success, and the best orchestra and soloists are secured. The selections rendered at these concerts are studied in advance under the direction of the teacher of music at the Fitchburg Normal School, so that the students go to them prepared with a knowledge of what they are to hear, and are able to listen intelligently and therefore to enjoy and appreciate better.

Courses

Courses

NORMAL school students are granted diplomas in the following regular departments.

The Elementary Department of two years fits for teaching grades one to six. The Advanced Department for Junior high school teachers is four years in length, one year of which is spent in teaching on salary. This department prepares principals and teachers for Junior high schools. Opportunity is also given to prepare for teaching special subjects in Junior high schools.

The Practical Arts Department of three years is open only to men. It fits teachers for manual training and various forms of industrial work.

Normal school or college graduates and teachers with not less than three years of satisfactory experience may be admitted to the school with advanced standing. These may, with the approval of the principal, elect a sufficient number of courses from the regular curricula to constitute a year's work, for which a certificate, or, with the approval of the Board of Education, a diploma will be granted.

Concerts, recitals, plays, and lectures occur at frequent intervals At the assemblies brief addresses are given by members of the faculty and by visitors to the school. Story-telling, twenty-minute talks, and debates on current questions provide the students practice in public speaking.

Courses of Study—Aims and Means

Summer Session

Students, who desire to save earning time, are admitted in July to the Elementary Department. They go out to teach a year from September and receive a diploma for the completion of the elementary course by spending one year and three summers at the school and by teaching one year. A year of earning time is thus saved.

Graduates of the elementary course may earn an advanced course diploma by study at the school during summer terms.

The faculty of the summer school is selected from the regular normal school faculty. Announcement for the 1919 term will be made later.

(C) Additional Subjects. At least 5 units from any of the foregoing subjects, or from other subjects approved by the high school towards the diploma of graduation of the applicant representing work in any subjects approved for graduation, in addition to that for which credit is secured by examination or certification.

in June and September of each year. Candidates applying for admission by examination must present credentials or certificates from their schools to cover the requirements under "C", and will not be given examinations in these subjects. Persons not able to present these credentials must obtain credit for 15 units by examination in the subjects listed under "A" and "B".

(B) Division of Examinations. A candidate for admission to a normal school may take all the examinations at once, or divide them between June and September. A candidate will receive permanent credit for any units secured by examination or certification.

IV

Admission on Certificate. Credits secured by any candidate from the Board of Regents of the State of New York, or for admission to any college in the New England College Entrance Certificate Board, either by examination or certification, or in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board, shall be accepted towards the total of 10 units under "A" and "B". In addition to the units granted by certification candidates must present credentials for subjects under "C".

V

Admission as Special Students. (A) When in any normal school, or in any department therein, the number of students entered as regular students and as advanced students at the opening of any school year is below the maximum number for which the school has accommodations, the Commissioner may authorize the admission as a special student of an applicant who, being otherwise qualified, and who, having taken the entrance examinations, has failed to meet the full requirements provided in the regulations of the Board, but who, nevertheless, is recommended by the principal of the normal school as, in his estimation, qualified to become a teacher. Such a special student shall be given regular standing only when he shall have satisfied all admission requirements, and when his work in the school, in the estimation of the principal, justifies such standing. The principal of the normal school shall report annually in October to the Commissioner as to all special students. Certificates may be granted to special students in accordance with regulations approved by the Board.

(B) When in any normal school, or in any course therein, the number of students entered as regular students, as advanced students, and as special students as defined in (A), at the opening of any school-year is below the maximum number for which the school has accommodations, the Commissioner may, subject to such special regulations as may be approved by the Board, authorize the admission to any class as a special student, on the recommendation of the principal, of a person possessing special or exceptional qualifications for the work of such class. Such special student shall not be considered a candidate for a diploma until he shall have qualified as a regular student, but may, on the satisfactory completion of the work of the department, be granted a certificate to that effect by the Board. The principal of the normal school shall report annually in October to the Commissioner as to all special students in the school under the provisions of this section.

VI

Admission as Advanced Students. A graduate of a normal school or of a college, or any person with not less than three years' satisfactory experience in teaching, may be admitted as a regular or as an advanced student to any department under such regulations as may be approved by the Board.

The foregoing requirements for admission to Massachusetts normal schools are based upon the two following principles:

1. The only subject necessarily presupposed as a basis for normal school work is English. This is required of all candidates for admission. The entrance examination in English is in two parts—one part dealing with English expression, the other dealing with English literature.

2. In order to permit the variation in program in different high schools, and the variation of curricula for different pupils in the same school, and also to allow for the development of new subjects, a "free margin" of substantially one-half of the entire high school program is allowed.

Students who have completed the work of the third year of High School may present themselves in either June or September for examination in five of the seven units included under "B". The examination in English must be taken at the end of the fourth year.

Expenses

Tuition

Tuition is free to all residents of Massachusetts. Non-residents of the State are required to pay, at the beginning of each half-year session, the sum of $25.00.

Room and Board

At present room and board are $180.00 per regular school year, to be paid monthly, in advance. If found necessary, in order to meet expenses this may be increased after July 1, 1919. Rooms in Miller Hall or Palmer Hall are reserved in order of application upon deposit of four dollars and a half with the clerk of the school. No room will be reserved until this deposit is made, which will be credited for the first week's board in the fall, but will not be refunded in case a student decides not to enter. No room will be held for a student after the opening of the school in the fall for longer than two weeks, for which payment must be made in advance.

The school furnishes mattress, pillow, and rug. The student should bring sheets, pillow-cases, blankets, and couch cover for bed three feet in width. If preferred, blankets may be hired for the year at seventy-five cents per pair, and couch covers at fifty cents apiece.

All pieces of clothing will be marked at the laundry. If students use school laundry, two dollars must be paid in September for use for one year.

All students living in the dormitory are required to pay one dollar in September for medicines, antiseptics, first aid, and incidental care.

Lunch Room

Opportunity is given to the day students and Junior high school pupils to buy lunches at cost.

Traveling Rates

Day students traveling by train, may obtain season tickets at reduced rates, from any of the railroads entering Fitchburg.

Meeting Expenses

In June, 1906, an alumni loan fund was founded. This is increased yearly by contributions from the alumni. Subscriptions from others also will be gladly received. To students needing help, amounts not exceeding $100.00 annually will be loaned, such amounts to be repaid with interest after graduation.

State aid is granted to students in the normal school, who are most deserving of such aid; and who have previously attended at least one-half year of the school. This aid is not granted to students who live in Fitchburg, or whose homes are outside the State.

Cash prizes have been offered for twenty-minute talks, for designs, and for essays. There have been a series of prizes for twenty-minute talks of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00. Mr. Herbert I. Wallace has annually offered prizes to the normal school students of $75.00, $50.00, and $25.00, for the best essay on some musical subject, and in 1919 prizes of $50.00 and $25.00 for the best design for the cover of the program book of the spring musical festival.

Work is provided at the school for students who must earn part or all of their expenses. Men have opportunity to do janitor work and make repairs around the buildings, and women to work in the dormitory.

A number of women earn all of their expenses by spending three years on the two years' course, working one of the years in the dormitory. In this connection the matron gives a course evenings in the subject of household arts. Students taking this course at graduation will be given, in addition to the elementary course diploma, a certificate showing the work covered in this subject. For further particulars, address the clerk of the school.

Some students also earn by teaching in the city evening schools, and in day schools as substitute teachers.

The normal school, as far as possible, also helps students to secure positions upon graduation. On account of the war, the demand for teachers is much greater than at any time in recent years, and the salaries offered are larger. Since the opening of school in September, there have been over a hundred calls for teachers for which the Fitchburg Normal School had no one available. The national back-to-school-drive toward better schools, more schools, and trained teachers ensures positions to those who prepare now. Those who are ready first will secure the choicest places, in a calling of the highest rank —congenial—and involving leadership and standing in the community.
